EASTERN OKLAHOMA AGRICULTURAL ASS'N

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 3.—Several weeks ago the Eastern Oklahoma Agricultural Association an organization composed of men in all lines, interested in increasing farm production and farm population in Eastern Oklahoma, following plans adopted at the Agricultural Conference held in Muskogee last February, established an Immigration Bureau for the purpose of influencing immigration to this section, placing in charge of the work Mr. Francis J. Meek, with offices at 806 Barnes Building, Muskogee. In addition to the support given the Bureau by the Association and its twenty-five or thirty County branches, the railroads have been co-operating in the movement, and good progress has been made.

However, the work has been held back by failure on the part of land owners to list the Bureau lands for sale or lease, not withstanding the fact that at present only about thirty per cent of the available land in Eastern Oklahoma is under cultivation.

An attractive prospectus is being prepared, setting forth conditions in Eastern Oklahoma, and the statements, backed by the Government statistics, are very encouraging, but distribution of the booklet in other states must be held up until more lands are listed. The Association will furnish blanks for this purpose upon request, and no charge made either to the owner or prospective buyer or tenant for services rendered by the Bureau.

This is a movement which has been badly needed, and which, if given the co-operation it should have, will result in more good than any project ever proposed in the state, and it is hoped that the work will not be further hampered by lack of cooperation on the part of those to whom the greatest amount of benefit will result.

CRUCE APPOINTS W. C. CROW TO SUCCEED LOOFBOURROW

Oklahoma City, Oct. 3.—W. C. Crow, an attorney of Guyton, Texas county, has been appointed by Governor Cruce to succeed Judge Robert H. Loofbourrow as Judge of the Nineteenth judicial district. Judge Loofbourrow was recently appointed to the supreme court to succeed Judge Jesse J. Dunn, who resigned to move to California. The appointment of Crow was made public by the governor Saturday afternoon. Crow was brought into the race for the appointment about the time the governor, John Doolin and John Doolin and John Williams are said to have disagreed. Doolin was backing Judge Bickel of Alva, and when it had been practically agreed that Bickel should be the man, the name of Crow is said to have been presented by John Williams.

Crow is a young attorney of Guyton and is widely known throughout the district which is the largest in the state in the amount of territory it comprises.

By wire Saturday the governor instructed Judge Crow to open court at Alva Monday.

CRUCE PROCLAIMS GOOD ROADS DAY

Governor Cruce issued a proclamation Saturday designating Thursday and Friday, October 16 and 17, as "Good Roads" days in Oklahoma and urging the people to lay plans and start work on those days to improve the public highways of the state.

The proclamation was issued by the governor at the request of the east side of the state, who are working up enthusiasm in the good roads project. They hope to arouse sufficient interest to make the Oklahoma good roads days parallel to the ones recently held in Kansas and Missouri.

To Investigate Kidnapping Case

Newcastle, Ind., Oct. 3.—The Henry County grand jury met today to begin an exhaustive investigation of all the circumstances connected with the mysterious disappearance of Catherine Winters, the nine-year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Winters of this city. It is now more than six months since the child disappeared from the city in broad daylight. Detectives have scoured the country from end to end and pictures of the missing child have been displayed in moving picture houses in every city and town of the land, but as yet not the slightest clue as to her whereabouts have been obtained. Whether she was killed or kidnapped is still a question.

GOVERNOR AND JUDGE EXCHANGE COMPLIMENTS

"The criminal court of appeals in this state has joined hands with the lieutenant governor in his raid on the penal institutions by holding that the minute I leave the state the lieutenant governor can do as he pleases."—Governor Cruce in his letter to conference of governors at Colorado Springs, Colo., explaining his non-attendance at the meeting.

"The governor of the state of Oklahoma, in a letter which was read at the conference of governors at Colorado Springs, Colo., made an unfounded and infamous assault upon the integrity of this court and its decision in this case. This emanation of official arrogance and vindictive vainglorious received nation wide publicity through the public press. The reason, we suppose, is that the spectacle of a governor publicly assailing a high court of the state is without parallel in the annals of the republic."—Justice Thomas A. Smith of the Oklahoma Court of Appeals.

SULZER TRIAL RESUMED TODAY

ACCUSED MAN AND COUNSEL READY FOR FINAL BATTLE OF CASE

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Out of a mass of rumors, denials and contradictions regarding the Sulzer impeachment trial today there came this one confirmed piece of news: Counsel for the governor will be ready to proceed with their case when court convenes tomorrow afternoon. No further adjournment will be asked. Senator Harvey D. Hinman will make the opening statement, and perhaps the first witness, Louis A. Sarecky, the governor's former campaign secretary, will be called before court adjourns at 6 o'clock.

A final conference, at which the governor and all his counsel were present was held tonight at the Executive Mansion. Absolutely no information about what took place was given out.

Before going to the executive mansion Senator Hinman said that his opening statement was not ready to be given out. His failure to finish the address produced many rumors regarding the status of the governor's case. One of the most persistent was that the governor's counsel went into the conference tonight feeling anything but secure over the story he has told them. They feared, they said, that he had not told all due to his lack of memory, which frequently unexpected angles of his defense on them. He was to be urged, it was said, to make a final review of the case and give his counsel absolute assurance that there was no ground he had not covered, so Mr. Hinman might close his address.

Both the senate and the assembly will reconvene tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock. The court of appeals also will meet and adjourn tomorrow. No cases will be heard.

The senate has no work of importance before it for tomorrow night, but the Assembly may receive a communication from James C. Garrison, the former state employe, now held at the Albany County penitentiary for contempt because he refused to answer questions asked him by the speaker.

Which Shall It Be?

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high-priced food with that old worn-out cook stove?

You KNOW that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year.

You KNOW you have trouble in getting it to bake just right, in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it costs considerable for yearly repairs.

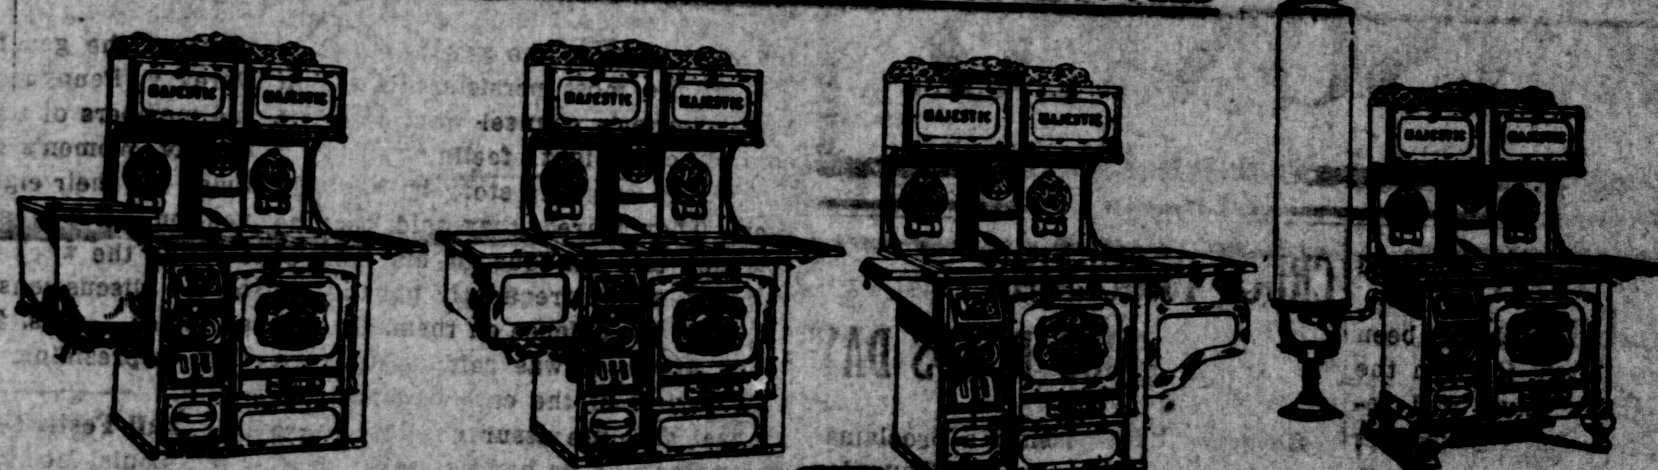

Stop and think and figure. Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal-Iron Range

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALLEABLE AND CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a movable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (browns bread just right all over without turning), heats 15 gallons of water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, and costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "unsight unseen;" you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive features explained—find out why the MAJESTIC is 300 per cent stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Honors—in the home
are divided.

Likewise—the cares.

Father earns the money—but Mother must spend it carefully. Yes, we both agree to that.

All right—then don't handicap Mother with poor or useless tools—a cheaply built range, for instance.

Half your living expense is in fuel and foods.

Waste the fuel by allowing the gases to escape un-burned or by forcing the fire in order to obtain the right oven heat as is done in most ranges; spoil expensive food materials by burning or improperly cooking them—and Mother makes a poor showing as a home-maker. Hardly fair—is it?

The family range is a mighty important factor and Mother is entitled to the best. Get her a of the oven—it insures perfect baking and roasting.

Both top of Range and oven are heated just right by the steady burning fire, an even temperature being maintained for both the top

OKLAHOMA CROP REPORT

The following report on Oklahoma crop conditions was made by the Editor of the Oklahoma Farm Journal on September 19th, for Lord & Thomas's Annual Crop Report:

The value of Oklahoma's 1913 production of staple crops, subject to a possible variation of ten per cent, will be: Corn, 62,000,000 bu., $46,500,000;
Wheat 16,380,000 bu., $13,104,000; Oats, 16,545,000 bu., $8,272,000; Cotton, 550,
000 bales, $44,000,000; Kafir, Milo, Cowpeas, and Peanuts (sure feed crops, of which the acreage was greatly increased in 1913) $25,000,000; Total, $136,876,000. The value of these crops in 1912 was $137,860,000, comprising: Corn, 101,378,000 bu., $41, 770,000; Wheat, 20,096,000 bu., $15,
072,000; Oats, 23,424,000 bu., $7,968,
000; Cotton, 1,039,000 bales, $66, 594,000; Kafir corn, $4,524,000. The 1913 production of alfalfa (including heavy seed crop), prairie hay, fruit, and truck crops was fully equal in value to that of 1912. The production of legumens will be very much less than 1912, but prices are correspondingly higher. The entire state was cracked by rains during the period from September 12th to 15th, putting the land in excellent condition for sowing a heavy crop of winter wheat, which will furnish pasture for the livestock and will also be a valuable crop for the farmer.

had to sacrifice their livestock and there is feed within the state for all of it and some to spare.

This report has been severely criticized locally as being at least 200,000 bales low on cotton, but is submitted as the best information obtainable at this date.

O. D. Wright has the carpenters at work building an addition to his building on West Main street.

The directors of the new bank met here Tuesday and we have been informed that the bank will open for business in the near future.

J. R. Rushing and Charley Rader have this week put a new dress of white paint on E. F. Primm's house in the east part of town. They are now at work canvassing and papering
the Christian church.

The Sunday schools of the various churches are largely attended by old people and the children.

The public school will begin next Monday and continue for a term of six months. The board has for this term taken off the high school grades on account of not having funds to run
the school the required time.

Quite a number of our citizens are in Oklahoma this week attending the state fair.

Francis is buying and shipping more of the product and will ship more than the other crops.

A number of the farmers are sowing wheat and the acreage will be twice as great as it was last season. They are sowing wheat with a view to pasterage for the winter and a money crop next summer.

JOE McELREATH MAKES

"BIG CATTLE SHIPMENT"
The arrival at the quarantine division today of 200 Louisiana steers attracted considerable attention for the reason that it was the first shipment of this class of steers in such numbers ever received here. Joe McElreath who is interested in the steers, brought them in from Ada, Ok., where they have been held 60 days on pasture.

"We bought 600 head of these steers around the headwaters of Lake Calcasieu, La., in the extreme southern part of the state, and this is our first shipment out of the string," said Mr. McElreath. "They are an even lot of cattle, and much better in quality than the average run of cattle found in the coast country of that state. It is a big undertaking, however, to get them out of the swamps and dense follage that is found there."—Kansas

INDIAN MYSTERIES AND SECRET SOCIETIES

(By E. A. MacMillan.)

In the matter of mythical lore, ancestral traditions no state in the union possess so rich a fund as Oklahoma.
Over 60 remnants of Indian tribes have been merged into our citizenship each, of whom have had handed down to them the traditions of a long line of ancestors. Much of this lore reaches back into the dim past and has been enriched and intensified as it has come down through the long cycle of years.
The Sauks, of whom but 400 still live in Oklahoma, have been known to the white man for nearly three hundred years, for Champlain wrote about them in 1616. However a fairly good description of them was written in 1687 and since that date their identity, their deeds of butchery and daring, and their peculiar religious rites have been known to the white man.

It is of the latter that they will live longest in the annals of the white man for their rites and ceremonies are surrounded with a halo of mystery which has led several students of mythology to believe that some of our secret societies of today are directly traced to these aborigines.
As a tribe they were wedded to a belief in unseen power and magic. All the animal life of the world was believed to possess certain magic force,
often good and never necessarily bad.
They, therefore, studied to enlarge their supposed magic and make easier their temporary abode on this munde-ne sphere and in that study, along investigational lines, they developed a highly organized secret cult—greater and more ceremonial than any other known Indian tribe. It naturally followed that those secret societies permeated the active life of the people.
It became their religion and is followed closer today by the Sauks than the ancient religion of any of the tribes in Oklahoma. The child was early taught to get into personal relation with some magician and learn his art so that the power of the tribe would not be lessened through death.

The secret rite of the Grand Medicine Society is still practiced. This society is composed of men and women who have gained great fame in medicinal study and who were chosen by the tribal council to receive their initiation upon the death of a member of the society. It was not always possible to be initiated, for the tendency for over two hundred years, has been to restrict the membership and today
but 18 members of the society exist.
The service is held each spring at a place chosen the previous spring. Only members know of the place. Great care is taken to guard the formal ceremonials from the profane. The ceremony is elaborate including the formulas for the mixing of the great tribal medicines; instructions in acquiring occult power as possessed by the members; transmission of important events in Sauk history; methods and tribal reasons for the various sacrifices offered. Secret signs and symbols were used. At each gathering a new pass word was chosen and could only be given at the next annual meeting, the belief prevailing that each member of the society should sacrifice everything to attend the sessions.

The chief of the tribe was not necessarily a member of the medicine society and if he gained admission, it was through merit. Socially he occupied the first place in the tribe, but politically he was a figurehead although it is recorded that some of their chiefs wielded arbitrary and autocratic power.

Boy Scouts to Be Self-Supporting.

New York, Oct. 6.—The Boy Scouts of America, an organization heretofore supported by philanthropy, begins today to make itself self-supporting by taxing each of the 300,000 members 25 cents a year. Local councils of the Boy Scouts will be divided into two classes.
Those of the first class, where a central office is maintained, will retain 15 cents of the 25 cents for local work, sending the broader work of the organization. Councils of the second class will retain only 5 cents of the contribution.

Loss of Appetite

Is the first signal of disorder and decay. The usual loss of appetite is often caused by functional disturbances in the stomach. The stomach fails to do the work required, the appetite is gone, and the body suffers from lack of nourishment. Such a stomach needs to be cleaned and sweetened. Meritol Tonic Digestive is made especially to assist the stomach to digest food, and promote a healthy appetite. This remedy is sold on our positive guarantee, and we ask you to give it a trial. It is a genuine tonic.

PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT

"Three hundred ($300.00) dollars reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any party or parties guilty of arson." How often have you seen this notice conspicuously displayed? Have you ever noticed an offer of reward for the arrest and conviction of any party guilty of breaking quarantine for contagious or infectious disease and exposing your family or your neighbor's family, thereby causing illness or death? All will admit that health and its protection should come first, yet the public considers money at all times paramount.

During the past thirty days there has been reported to the State Health Department two cases of diphtheria, one being sixty years of age and the other thirty-five. One of these parties has been handling and selling milk.
Before this patient was released from quarantine over 100,000 units antitox-ine was administered. The other case was reported by a city health officer and by the time the laboratory had made its report the party had moved to another town. Another health officer hunted the family up and placed them in quarantine. In this case there was a history of chronic sore throat, covering a period of five years. No one can tell how many contracted diphtheria from this individual during the past five years. All suspicious throat trouble should be passed on by the State Bacteriologist. There can be no harm done by this examination and very much good may result both to the individual and the public.

Four years is a short stretch of time, but it was enough to change the life of a young Oklahoma woman from a school girl to a happy bride, then to a happier mother and later to leave her grief stricken and childless widow. All this was caused by tuberculosis, a preventable disease. Three years ago she was married and last year she buried her husband, a victim of consumption. The baby, less than a year old, soon followed the father to the grave. At the time of the marriage both parties were in good health. Some one in some way exposed him to consumption. It may have been in his place of business, possibly on the streets. He had to contract it from somebody. The baby born was with a low power of resistance and contracted tubercular meningitis from the father. Does not this mother have a right to believe that life has cheated her; that she has paid too high a price for two or three years of happiness?

Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, widow of the late John Jacob Astor who perished with the Titanic, is said to have spent between $40,000 and $45,000 for medical attention alone for her baby at birth. The great State of Oklahoma only spends $20,000 a year for the protection of the health of nearly 2, 000,000 people. Divide this amount by 40,000, the number of babies born in Oklahoma in a year, and see how little is spent in the protection of your baby,
if it is one of the 40,000.

Statesmen like to refer to Gladstone and there is not one of them who would not like to be termed "Glad-stonian" and yet they fail to practice what Gladstone preached. Gladstone

EASTERN OKLAHOMA AGRICULTURAL ASS'N

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 6.—Several weeks ago the Eastern Oklahoma Agricultural Association an organization composed of men in all lines, interested in increasing farm production and farm population in Eastern Oklahoma, following plans adopted at the Agricultural Conference held in Muskogee last February, established an Immigration Bureau for the purpose of influencing immigration to this section, placing in charge of the work Mr. Francis J. Meek, with offices at 806 Barnes Building, Muskogee. In addition to the support given the Bureau by the Association and its twenty-five or thirty County branches, the railroads have been co-operating in the movement, and good progress has been made.

However, the work has been held back by failure on the part of land owners to list the Bureau lands for sale or lease, not withstanding the fact that at present only about thirty per cent of the available land in Eastern Oklahoma is under cultivation.

An attractive prospectus is being prepared, setting forth conditions in Eastern Oklahoma, and the statements, backed by the Government statistics, are very encouraging, but distribution of the booklet in other states must be held up until more lands are listed. The Association will furnish blanks for this purpose upon request, and no charge made either to the owner or prospective buyer or tenant for services rendered by the Bureau.

This is a movement which has been badly needed, and which, if given the co-operation it should have, will result in more good than any project ever proposed in the state, and it is hoped that the work will not be further hampered by lack of cooperation on the part of those to whom the greatest amount of benefit will result.

CRUCE APPOINTS W. C. CROW TO SUCCEED LOOFBOURROW

Oklahoma City, Oct. 6.—W. C. Crow, an attorney of Guymon, Texas county, has been appointed by Governor Cruce to succeed Judge Robert H. Loofbourrow as Judge of the Nineteenth judicial district. Judge Loofbourrow was recently appointed to the supreme court to succeed Judge Jesse J. Dunn, who resigned to move to California. The appointment of Crow was made public by the governor Saturday afternoon.

Crow was brought into the race for the appointment about the time the governor, John Doolin and John Doolin and John Williams are said to have disagreed. Doolin was backing Judge Bickel of Alva, and when it had been practically agreed that Bickel should be the man, the name of Crow is said to have been presented by John Williams.

Crow is a young attorney of Guymon and is widely known throughout the district which is the largest in the state in the amount of territory it comprises.

By wire Saturday the governor instructed Judge Crow to open court at Alva Monday.

CRUCE PROCLAIMS GOOD ROADS DAY

Governor Cruce issued a proclamation Saturday designating Thursday and Friday, October 16 and 17, as "Good Roads" days in Oklahoma and urging the people to lay plans and start work on these days to improve the public highways of the state.

The proclamation was issued by the governor at the request of the east side of the state, who are working up enthusiasm in the good roads project. They hope to arouse sufficient interest to make the Oklahoma good roads days parallel to the ones recently held in Kansas and Missouri.

To Investigate Kidnapping Case

Newcastle, Ind., Oct. 6.—The Henry County grand jury met today to begin an exhaustive investigation of all the circumstances connected with the mysterious disappearance of Catherine Winters, the nine-year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Winters of this city. It is now more than six months since the child disappeared from the city in broad daylight. Detectives have scoured the country from end to end and pictures of the missing child have been displayed in moving picture houses in every city and town of the land, but as yet not the slightest clue as to her whereabouts have been obtained. Whether she was killed or kidnapped is still a question.

"The criminal court of appeals in this state has joined hands with the lieutenant governor in his raid on the penal institutions by holding that the minute I leave the state the lieutenant governor can do as he pleases."—Governor Cruce in his letter to conference of governors at Colorado Springs, Colo., explaining his non-attendance at the meeting.

"The governor of the state of Oklahoma, in a letter which was read at the conference of governors at Colorado Springs, Colo., made an unfounded and infamous assault upon the integrity of this court and its decision in this case. This emanation of official arrogance and vindictive valetence received nation wide publicity through the public press. The reason, we suppose, is that the spectacle of a governor publicly assailing a high court of his state is without parallel in the annals of the republic."—Judge Thomas A. Doyle of the Criminal Court of Appeals.

SULZER TRIAL RESUMED TODAY

ACCUSED MAN AND COUNSEL READY FOR FINAL BATTLE OF CASE.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Out of a mass of rumors, denials and contradictions regarding the Sulzer impeachment trial today there came this one confirmed piece of news: Counsel for the governor will be ready to proceed with their case when court convenes tomorrow afternoon. No further adjournment will be asked. Senator Harvey D. Hinman will make the opening statement, and perhaps the first witness. Louis A. Sarecky, the governor's former campaign secretary, will be called before court adjourns at 6 o'clock.

A final conference, at which the governor and all his counsel were present was held tonight at the Executive Mansion. Absolutely no information about what took place was given out.

Before going to the executive mansion Senator Hinman said that his opening statement was not ready to be given out. His failure to finish the address produced many rumors regarding the status of the governor's case. One of the most persistent was that the governor's counsel went into the conference tonight feeling anything but secure over the story he has told them. They feared, they said, that he had not told all due to his lack of memory, which frequently unexpected angles of his defense on them. He was to be urged, it was said, to make a final review of the case and give his counsel absolute assurance that there was no ground he had not covered, so Mr. Hinman might close his address.

Both the senate and the assembly will reconvene tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock. The court of appeals also will meet and adjourn tomorrow. No cases will be heard.

The senate has no work of importance before it for tomorrow night, but the Assembly may receive a communication from James C. Garrison, the former state employee, now held at the Albany County penitentiary for contempt because he refused to answer questions asked him by the speaker.

Which Shall It Be?

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high-priced food with that old worn-out cook stove?

You KNOW that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year.

You KNOW you have trouble in getting it to bake just right, in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it costs considerable for yearly repairs.

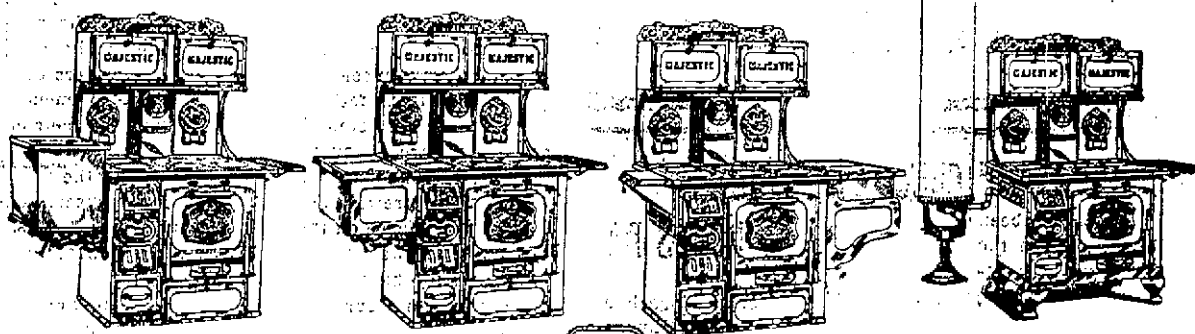

Stop and think and figure. Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal-Iron Range

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALLEABLE AND CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a movable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (browns bread just right all over without turning), heats 15 gallons of water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, and costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "unsight unseen;" you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive features explained—find out why the MAJESTIC is 300 per cent stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

Likewise—the cares.

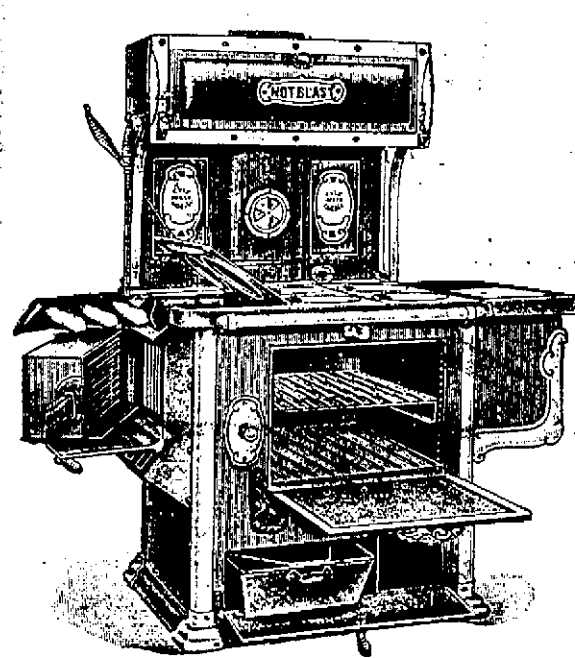

Father earns the money—but Mother must spend it carefully. Yes, we both agree to that.

All right—then don't handicap Mother with poor or useless tools—a cheaply built range, for instance.

Half your living expense is in fuel and foods.

Waste the fuel by allowing the gases to escape unburned or by forcing the fire in order to obtain the right oven heat as is done in most ranges; spoil expensive food materials by burning or improperly cooking them—and Mother makes a poor showing as a home-maker. Hardly fair—is it?

The family range is a mighty important factor and Mother is entitled to the best. Get her a

Cole's Hot Blast Range

With the Hot Blast Combustion that saves the gases in the fuel wasted by other ranges. It reduces your fuel bill at least one third.

The Automatic Oven Ventilator that distributes the heat evenly to all parts of the oven—it insures perfect baking and roasting.

Both top of Range and oven are heated just right by the steady burning fire, an even temperature being maintained for both the top and the oven as long as desired. Even, steady heat means no spoiling of expensive food stuffs—no money lost. Any fuel will do—soft coal, hard coal or wood.

SPECIAL DEMONSTRATION OCTOBER 13, 14 AND 15.

INDIAN MYSTERIES AND SECRET SOCIETIES

In the matter of mythical lore, ancestral traditions no state in the union possess so rich a fund as Oklahoma. Over 60 remnants of Indian tribes have been merged into our citizenship each, of whom have had handed down to them the traditions of a long line of ancestors. Much of this lore reaches back into the dim past and has been enriched and intensified as it has come down through the long cycle of years.

The Sauks, of whom but 400 still live in Oklahoma, have been known to the white man for nearly three hundred years, for Champlain wrote about them in 1616. However a fairly good description of them was written in 1867 and since that date their identity, their deeds of butchery and daring, and their peculiar religious rites have

It is of the latter that they will live longest in the annals of the white man for their rites and ceremonies are surrounded with a halo of mystery which has led several students of mythology to believe that some of our secret societies of today are directly traced to these aborigines.

As a tribe they were wedded to a belief in unseen power and magic. All the animal life of the world was believed to possess certain magic force, often good and never necessarily bad. They, therefore, studied to enlarge their supposed magic and make easier their temporary abode on this mundane sphere and in that study, along investigational lines, they developed a highly organized secret cult—greater and more ceremonial than any other known Indian tribe. It naturally followed that those secret societies permeated the active life of the people. It became their religion and is followed closer today by the Sauks than the ancient religion of any of the tribes in Oklahoma. The child was early taught to get into personal relation with some magician and learn his art so that the power of the tribe would not be lessened through death.

The secret rite of the Grand Medicine Society is still practiced. This society is composed of men and women who have gained great fame in medicinal study and who were chosen by the tribal council to receive their initiation upon the death of a member of the society. It was not always possible to be initiated, for the tendency for over two hundred years, has been to restrict the membership and today but 18 members of the society exist. The service is held each spring at a place chosen the previous spring. Only members know of the place. Great care is taken to guard the formal ceremonies from the profane. The ceremony is elaborate including the formulas for the mixing of the great tribal medicines; instructions in securing occult power as possessed by the members; transmission of important events in Sauk history; methods and tribal reasons for the various sacrifices offered. Secret signs and symbols were used. At each gathering a new pass word was chosen and could only be given at the next annual meeting, the belief prevailing that each member of the society should sacrifice everything to attend the sessions.

The chief of the tribe was not necessarily a member of the medicine society and if he gained admission, it was through merit. Socially he occupied the first place in the tribe, but politically he was a figurehead although it is recorded that some of their chiefs wielded arbitrary and autocratic power.

Four years is a short stretch of time, but it was enough to change the life of a young Oklahoma woman from a school girl to a happy bride, then to a happier mother and later to leave her grief-stricken and childless widow. All this was caused by tuberculosis, a preventable disease. Three years ago she was married and last year she buried her husband, a victim of consumption. The baby, less than a year old, soon followed the father to the grave. At the time of the marriage both parties were in good health. Some one in some way exposed him to consumption. It may have been in his place of business, possibly on the streets. He had to contract it from somebody. The baby born was with a low power of resistance and contracted tubercular meningitis from the father. Does not this mother have a right to believe that life has cheated her; that she has paid too high a price for two or three years of happiness?

Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, widow of the late John Jacob Astor who perished with the Titanic, is said to have spent between $40,000 and $45,000 for medical attention alone for her baby at birth. The great State of Oklahoma only spends $20,000 a year for the protection of the health of nearly 2,000,000 people. Divide this amount by 40,000, the number of babies born in Oklahoma in a year, and see how little is spent in the protection of your baby, if it is one of the 40,000.

Boy Scouts to Be Self-Supporting.
New York, Oct. 6.—The Boy Scouts of America, an organization heretofore supported by philanthropy, begins today to make itself self-supporting by taxing each of the 300,000 members 25 cents a year. Local councils of the Boy Scouts will be divided into two classes. Those of the first class, where a central office is maintained, will retain 15 cents of the 25 cents for local work, sending the broader work of the organization. Councils of the second class will retain only 5 cents of the contribution.

Loss of Appetite
Is the first signal of disorder and decay. The usual loss of appetite is often caused by functional disturbances in the stomach. The stomach fails to do the work required, the appetite is gone, and the body suffers from lack of nourishment. Such a stomach needs to be cleaned and sweetened. Meritol Tonic Digestive is made especially to assist the stomach to digest food, and promote a healthy appetite. This remedy is sold on our positive guarantee, and we ask you to give it a trial. OKLAHOMA CROP REPORT

The following report on Oklahoma crop conditions was made by the Editor of the Oklahoma Farm Journal on September 13th, for Lord & Thomas's Annual Crop Report:

The value of Oklahoma's 1913 production of staple crops, subject to a possible variation of ten per cent, will be: Corn, 62,000,000 bu., $46,500,000; Wheat 16,380,000 bu., $13,104,000; Oats, 16,545,000 bu., $8,272,000; Cotton, 550,000 bales, $44,000,000; Kafir, Milo, Cowpeas, and Peanuts (sure feed crops, of which the acreage was greatly increased in 1913) $25,000,000; Total, $136,876,000. The value of these crops in 1912 was $127,860,000, comprising: Corn, 101,878,000 bu., $41,770,000; Wheat, 20,096,000 bu., $15,072,000; Oats, 23,494,000 bu., $7,988,000; Cotton, 1,039,000 bales, $66,436,000; Kafir corn, $6,534,000. The 1913 production of alfalfa (including heavy seed crop), prairie hay, fruit, and truck crops was fully equal in value to that of 1912. The production of broomcorn will be very much less than 1912, but prices are correspondingly higher. The entire state was soaked by rains during the period from September 7th to 12th, putting the land in excellent condition for sowing a large acreage to winter wheat which will furnish pasture for the livestock and save high-priced cotton this season than it has in any feed. Oklahoma Farmers have not had to sacrifice their livestock and there is feed within the state for all of it and some to spare.

This report has been severely criticized locally as being at least 200,000 bales low on cotton, but is submitted as the best information obtainable at this date.

FRANCIS
O. D. Wright has the carpenters at work building an addition to his building on West Main street.

The directors of the new bank met here Tuesday and we have been informed that the bank will open for business in the near future.

J. R. Rishing and Charley Rader have this week put a new dress of white paint on B. F. Primm's house in the east part of town. They are now at work canvassing and papering the Christian church.

The Sunday schools of the various churches are largely attended by old people and the children.

The public school will begin next Monday and continue for a term of six months. The board has for this term taken off the high school grades on account of not having funds to run the school the required time.

Quite a number of our citizens are in Oklahoma this week attending the state fair.

Francis is buying and ginning more the livestock and save high-priced cotton this season than it has in any one season in six or seven years.

A number of the farmers are sowing wheat and the acreage will be twice as great as it was last season. They are sowing wheat with a view to pasturage for the winter and a money crop next summer.

JOE McELREATH MAKES 'BIG CATTLE SHIPMENT'
The arrival at the quarantine division today of 200 Louisiana steers attracted considerable attention for the reason that it was the first shipment of this class of steers in such numbers ever received here. Joe McElreath who is interested in the steers, brought them in from Ada, Ok., where they have been held 60 days on pasture.

"We bought 600 head of these steers around the headwaters of Lake Calcasieu, La., in the extreme southern part of the state, and this is our first shipment out of the string," said Mr. McElreath. "They are an even lot of cattle, and much better in quality than the average run of cattle found in the coast country of that state. It is a big undertaking, however, to get them out of the swamps and dense foliage that is found there."—Kansas City Drovers Telegram.

Of the few who have seen the latest financial report of the city's finance we have found none who is so bold as to claim to be able to figure out how much cash there is on hand in and fund. Like all the other reports in that respect.

The statement that Charles M. Schwab is spending $20,000 on a henry moves a reckless contemporary to remark that some Pittsburg millionaires have spent more than that on a single chicken.—Kanas City Journal.

The Coalgate Courier has gone back to a style that we thought had ceased to exist among newspapers. It is now printed in eight column folio. It is all very well if a man has a half-acre lot in which to spread it out to read, but in the cramped quarters of most editorial sanctums it is rather trying on exchange editors.

The increasing crowds at the football games indicate that Ada is at last being permeated by the fascination of the game and that this is becoming a real school town. A place where as a school center. There is nothing like the football spirit to arouse enthusiasm and hold the people together. Give the boys plenty of encouragement.

Mother's Advice To Her Daughter

A Real Live Doll to Fondle Is Woman's Greatest Happiness.

One of the most important matters about which women concern themselves is their future status as a grandmother. And she who is wise enough to know of or learn of that famous remedy, Mother's Friend, has an external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It certainly has a wonderful influence, always all year, banishes all pain, is a most grateful encouragement to the young, expectant mother, and permits her to go through the period of pregnancy in mind, free in body and thus destined to anticipate woman's greatest happiness as nature intended she should. The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles free, pliant and responsive to extension. Thus all strain and tension upon the nerves and ligaments is avoided, and in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread, it is a season of calm repose and joyful expectation. There is no nausea, no morning sickness, no nervous twitching, none of that constant strain known to so many women, hence Mother's Friend is really one of the greatest blessings that could be devised. This splendid and certain remedy can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle, and is sure to prove of inestimable value, not only upon the mother, but upon the health and future of the child. Write to Bradford Regulator Co., 132 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book to expectant mothers.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all of our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

FIRE DESTROYS COTTON AT LONE GROVE

A fire which destroyed twenty-five bales of cotton and threatened the gin plant of C. H. Bigbie at Lone Grove occurred about 2 o'clock. The gin was operated Friday night until about 10 o'clock and it is believed that cigarette smokers caused the fire. The loss of cotton amounted to $1,500 to $1,800 besides the platform and scales were burned and if the fire had not been discovered early after it started the gin plant could not have been saved. The cotton belonged to the different patrons of the gin. One bale belonged to Joe Taylor of Prairie Valley.

EVERY COMFORT BEING PROVIDED FOR VISITORS

Tulsa Committee Working Out All Details For Entertainment of 100,000 People.

Tulsa, Oklahoma, will entertain the largest crowd in its history next October. With an experience of eight years behind them, the officers of the International Dry-Farming Congress and Exposition are making most complete arrangements for the reception and accommodation of visitors and delegates to the big meeting which begins October 22.

A special canvass is being made of every house in the city and every available room will be listed in such a way that information concerning it will be instantly at hand at the time of the Congress. More than a score of special trains from the states of the far north and west, as well as from Canada, will arrive in Tulsa about October 22. These trains will be parked on the exposition grounds and the delegates will live in them during the ten days' meeting. Special wigwams will be built to accommodate any possible overflow of unattached men. Twenty acres have been set aside as camp sites for families who wish to bring their own camp equipment and live in tents during the time of the great international meeting.

Added to these special accommodations will be the scores of good hotels and rooming houses now doing business in Tulsa. Two new hotels, with a combined capacity of 160 rooms, will be finished in time for the Congress. Altogether, it is certain that more than 20,000 visitors can be accommodated nightly in convenience and comfort.

Sunday morning the general manager's special inspection car passed through Ada going over the Oklahoma Central. The principal officers on it were W. A. Webb, assistant general manager and W. E. Williams, general superintendent.

Ancient Time-Telling Methods.

The invention of the sun dial is generally attributed to a Grecian astronomer who died about 547 B. C. The dial was followed by the hour glass and this by the water clock, which marked time by the escape of water through an orifice. These were introduced into Rome about 158 B. C., but are believed to have been in use in Chaldea and Egypt for a hundred years previous to that date.

Again the child gravely asked permission to try.
"No," said Speed, harshly, and turned away. But in that instant Jacqueline flung open the window and vaulted into the garden. Before I could realize what had happened she was a glimmering spot in the darkness. Then Speed and I followed her, running swiftly toward the foot of the garden, but we were too late; a slim, white shape rose from the top of the wall and leaped blindly out through the ruddy torch glare into the blackness beyond.

I looked at Speed. He stood wide-eyed, staring at vacancy.

"Could she do it?" I asked, horrified.

"God knows," he whispered.

Then we crept back to the window, where we entered in time to avoid discovery by a wretch who had succeeded in mounting the wall, torch in hand.

"Where is Jacqueline?" asked the countess, looking anxiously at the little blue skirt on Speed's knees. "Have they harmed that child?"

I told her.

A beautiful light grew in her eyes as she listened. "Did I not warn you that we Bretons know how to die?" she said.

There were noises outside our door, loud voices, hammering, the sound of furniture being dragged over stone floors, and I scarcely noticed it when our door was opened again.

Then somebody called out our names; a file of half-drunken soldiers grounded arms in the passage way with a bang that brought us to our feet, as Mornac, flushed with wine, entered unsteadily, drawn sword in hand.

"I'm damned if I stay here any longer," he broke out, angrily. "I'll see whether my rascals can't shoot straight by torch-light."

The shuffling tread of the insurgent infantry echoed across the gravel courtyard; torches behind the walls were extinguished; blackness enveloped the cliffs.

"Well," broke out Speed, hoarsely, "Good-by, Scarlett."

He held out his hand.

"Good-by," I said, stunned.

Then he went to the countess and offered his hand.

"I am so sorry for you," she said, with a pallid smile. "You have much to live for. But you must not feel lonely, monsieur; you will be with us—we shall be close to you."

She turned to me, and her hands fell to her side.

"Are you contented?" she asked.

"Yes," I answered.

"I, too," she said, sweetly, and offered her hands. I held them very tightly. "You say," I whispered, "that it is not love. But you do not speak for me. I love you."

A bright blush spread over brow and cheek.

"So—it was love—after all," she said, under her breath. "God be with us today—I love you."

"March!" cried Mornac, as two soldiers took station beside me.

Speed passed out first; I followed; the countess came behind me.

"Courage," I stammered, looking back at her as we stumbled out into the torch-lit garden.

She smiled adorably. Her forehead had mounted the guillotine smiling.

A soldier dressed like a Turco lifted a torch and set it in the flower bed under the wall, illuminating the spot where we were to stand. As this soldier turned to come back I saw his face.

"Salah Ben-Ahmed!" I cried, hoarsely. "Do Marabouts do this butcher's work?"

The Turco stared at me as though stunned.

"Salah Ben-Ahmed is a disgraced soldier!" I said, in a ringing voice.

"It's a lie!" he shouted, in Arabic. "It's a lie, O my inspector! Speak! Have these men tricked me? Are you not Prussians?"

"Silence! Silence!" bawled Mornac. "Turco, fall in! Fall in, I say! What! You menace me?" he snarled, poking his revolver.

Then a man darted out of the red shadows of the torch-light and fell upon Mornac with a knife, and dragged him down and rolled on him, stabbing him through and through, while the mutilated wretch screamed and screamed until his soul struggled out through the flame-shot darkness and led to its last dreadful abode.

The lizard rose, shaking his fatigot knife; they fell upon him, clubbing and stabbing with stock and bayonet, but he swung his smeared and sticky blade, clearing a circle around him. And I think he could have cut his way free had not Tric-Trac shot him in the back of the head.

Then a frightful tumult broke loose. Three of the torches were knocked to the ground and trampled out as the insurgents, doubly drunken with wine and the taste of blood, seized me and tried to force me against the wall; but the Turco, with his shrill, wolf-like battle yell, attacked them, sabre-bayonet in hand. Speed, too, had wrested a rifle from a half-stupefied ruffian, and now stood at bay before the countess; I saw him wielding his heavy weapon like a flail; then in the darkness Tric-Trac shot at me, so close that the powder flame scorched my leg. He dropped his rifle to spring for my throat, knocking me flat, and, crouching on me, strove to strangle me; and I heard him whining with eagerness while I twisted and writhed to free my windpipe from his thin fingers.

At last I tore him from my body and struggled to my feet. He, too, was on his legs with a bound, running, doubling, dodging; and at his heels I saw a dozen sailors, broadaxes glittering, chasing him from tree to shrub.

"Speed!" I shouted—"the sailors from the Fer-de-Lance!"

I had picked up a rifle with a broken bayonet; the countess, clasping my left arm; stood swaying in the rifle smoke, eyes closed; and, when a horrid screeching arose from the depths of the garden where they were destroying Tric-Trac, she fell to shuddering, hiding her face on my shoulder.

Suddenly Speed appeared, carrying a drenched little figure, partly wrapped in a sailor's pea-jacket, slim limbs drooping, blue with cold.

"Put out that fire in there," he said, hoarsely; "we must get her into bed. Hurry, for God's sake, Scarlett! There's nobody in the house!"

"Jacqueline! Jacqueline! brave little Bretonne!" murmured the countess, bending forward and gathering the unconscious child into her strong, young arms.

A fresh company of sailors passed on the double, rifles trailing, their officer shouting encouragement. And as we came in view of the semaphore, I saw the signal tower on fire from base to top. The marines fired steadily from the windows above us.

They want the Red Terror!" laughed the sailors. "They shall have it!"

Blackened, scorched, almost suffocated, I staggered back to the tearoom, where the countess stood clasping Jacqueline, huddled in a blanket, and smoothing the child's wet curls away from a face as white as death.

Together we carried her back through the smoking hallway, up the stairs to my bedroom, and laid her in the bed.

The child opened her eyes as we drew the blankets.

"Where is Speed?" she asked, dreamily.

A moment later he came in, and she turned her head languidly and smiled.

"Jacqueline! Jacqueline!" he whispered, bending close above her.

"Do you love me, Speed?"

"Ah, Jacqueline," he stammered, "more than you can understand."

Late that night the light cavalry from Lorient rode into Paradise. At Stabbing Him Through and Through.

dawn the colonel, established in the mayory, from whence its foolish occupant had fled, sent for Speed and me, and when we reported he drew from his heavy dolman our commissions, restoring us to rank and pay in the regiment de marche which he commanded.

At sunrise I had bade good-by to the sweetest woman on earth; at noon we were miles to the westward, riding like demons on Buckhurst's heavy trail.

I am not sure that we ever saw him again, though once, weeks later, Speed and I and a dozen hussars gave chase to a mounted man near St. Brienc, and that man might have been Buckhurst. He led us a magnificent chase straight to the coast, where we rode plump into a covey of Prussian hussars, who were standing on their saddles, hacking away at the telegraph wires with their heavy, curved sabers.

That was our first and last sight of the enemy in either Prussian or comparable days and nights of that winter of '71, when three French armies froze, and the white death, not the Prussians, ended all for France, rumors of insurrection came to us from the starving capital, and we heard of the red flag flying on the Hotel-de-Ville, and the rising of the carbiniers under Florens; and some spoke of the leader of the insurrection and called him John Buckhurst.

Then, for three blank, bitter months, freezing and starving, the First regiment de marche of Lorient Hussars stood guard at Brest over the diamonds of the crown of France.

CHAPTER XXII.

The Secret.

The news of the collapse of the army of the East found our wretchedly clothed and half-starved hussars still patrolling the environs of Brest from Belair to the Pont Tournant, and from the banks of the Elorn clear around the ramparts to Lannion bay.

For three months our troopers scarcely left their saddles, except to be taken to the hospital in Reconvoiance.

Suddenly the nightmare ended with a telegram. Paris had surrendered.

On the first day of March, by papers from London, we learned that the war was at an end, and that the preliminary treaty of Sunday, the 26th, had been signed at Versailles.

The same mail brought to me an astonishing offer from Cairo, to assist in the reorganization and accept a commission in the Egyptian military police. Speed and I, shivering in our ragged uniforms by the barrack stove, discussed the matter over a loaf of bread and a few sardines, until we fell asleep in our greasy chairs.

When I awoke in the black morning hours I knew that I should go. All the roaming instinct in me was roused. I, a nomad, had stayed too long in one stale place; I must be moving on.

Leave of absence, and permission to travel pending acceptance of my resignation, I asked for and obtained before the stable trumpets awoke my comrade from his heavy slumber by the barrack stove.

Speed awoke with the trumpets, and stared at me where I knelt before the stove in my civilian clothes, strapping up my little packet.

"Oh," he said, briefly, "I knew you were going."

"So did I," I replied. "Will you ride to Treacourt with me? I have two weeks' permission for you."

We bolted our breakfast of soup and black bread, and bawled for our horses, almost crazed with impatience, now that the moment had come at last.

Far ahead we caught sight of the smoke of a locomotive.

"Landerneau!" gasped Speed. "Ride hard, Scarlett!"

The station master saw us and halted the moving train at a frantic signal from Speed, whose uniform was to be reckoned with by all station masters, and ten minutes later we stood swaying in a cattle car, huddled close to our horses to keep warm, while the locomotive tore eastward, whistling frantically, and an ocean of black smoke poured past, swarming with sparks.

At Quimper some gendarmes aided us to disembarke our horses, and a sub-officer respectfully offered us hospitality at the barracks across the square; but we were in our saddles the moment our horses' hoofs struck the pavement, galloping for Paradise, with a sweet, keen wind blowing, hinting already of the sea.

As we dismounted in the court yard the sun flashed out from the fringes of a huge, snowy cloud.

"There is Jacqueline!" cried Speed, tossing his bridle to me in his excitement, and left me planted there until a servant came from the stable.

Then I followed, every nerve quivering, almost dreading to set foot within, lest happiness awake me, and I find myself in the freezing barracks once more, my brief dream ended.

After a while a glimmer of common sense returned to me. I squared my shoulders and breathed deeply, then rose and walked to the window.

A step at the door, and I wheeled, trembling.

The Countess de Vassart stood in the doorway, a smile trembling on her lips. In her gray eyes I read hope; and I took her hands in mine. She stood silent with bent head, exquisite in her silent shyness; and I told her I loved her, and that I asked for her love; that I had found employment in Egypt, and that it was sufficient to justify my asking her to wed me.

"As for my name," I said, "you know that is not the name I bear; yet, knowing that, you have given me your love. You read my dossier in Paris; you know why I am alone, without kin, without a family, without a home. Yet you believe that I am not tainted with dishonor. And I am not. Listen, this is what happened; this is why I gave up all; and . . . this is my name!"

And I bent my head and whispered the truth for the first time in my life to any living creature.

When I had ended I stood still, waiting, head still bowed beside hers.

She laid her hand on my hot face and slowly drew it close beside hers.

"What shall I promise you?" she whispered.

"Yourself, Elaine."

"Take me. . . . Is that all?"

"Your love."

She turned in my arms and clasped her hands behind my head, pressing her mouth to mine.

The rose that is sweetest and fairest, Is the bud that was killed by the frost,

And the love that was dearest and rarest,

Was the true love that we have just lost.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—Foremost in importance among the events of the week will be the dynamiting of the Gamboa Dike at Panama. The destruction of this dike will permit Gatun Lake to flood Culebra Cut, thereby practically connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and marking the completion of the real work of digging the great canal across the isthmus.

A new turn may be given to the impeachment proceedings against Governor Sulzer when the Albany County grand jury assembles on Monday. It is reported that plans have been made to submit evidence looking to the indictment of the Governor by the grand jury.

Former President William H. Taft will visit Boston Thursday to officiate at the laying of the cornerstone of the new home of the Boston City Club. The week will be particularly notable for its large number of important religious gatherings. Foremost on the list is the great triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States, which will be formally opened in New York City on Wednesday. The general conference of Unitarian and Other Liberal Christian churches will meet in Buffalo and the General Board of Missions of the Methodist churches in Canada will hold its annual sessions in Amherst, N. S.

The American Bankers' Association will hold its annual convention in Boston, the American Prison Association in Indianapolis, the Fire Marshal's Association of North America in Philadelphia, and the National Guard Association of the United States in Chicago.

Other events of the week will include the New York-Philadelphia series of games for the world's baseball championship, the annual Veiled Prophet festival in St. Louis, the Canadian Land and Apple Show in Winnipeg, and the inauguration of George L. Omwake as president of Ursinus College, at Collegeville, Pa.

An Attempt to Prove an Alibi That Failed.

In the October American Magazine Charles Dillon writes an article entitled "Humors of the Courts." It is made up largely of funny true stories told by lawyers of their experiences. The following is a story of a prisoner who became disgusted with his lawyer and took his case into his own hands:

"A western lawyer whose practice seldom goes beyond the justice courts strayed into the Lawyers' Club one night, ostensibly to look for an acquaintance, and after he had gone someone told this one about him.

"Black's chief fault," said the man in front of the fireplace, "is his disposition to ask leading questions. These questions, as anyone can see, are intended to warn the witness how to answer. Once, not long ago, this man endangered his client's liberty, or the client thought so, for, at any rate, he suddenly took the case into his own hands. 'You have no case, Mike,' the discomfited lawyer whispered. 'You'll ruin yourself. You hit that Chinaman and a lot of people know it. The judge himself knows it. If you only had an alibi, a good witness to call,'

"There's Tim Maginnis," said Mike, pointing into the audience. I spoke to him. He knows what to say."

"Fine. Take your case. I've had enough of it. When Fong Foo has finished his story you call Maginnis and ask him a question to show where you were when the Chinik was struck."

"At the proper moment Mike, looking very wise and very self-important, called Tim Maginnis.

"Mr. Maginnis," he began, 'do you understand the nature of an oath?'

"I think I do," Tim replied, a bit carelessly.

"Well, say," said Mike, holding his head high, "will you please tell the court where I was when I struck the Chinaman in front of the hotel?"

"Ye were home in bed," was the astounding reply. But poor Mike was convicted."

"THE ROSARY"

At the present day when so many plays are being presented which deal with questionable subjects, it is a relief to turn to a drama which breathes purity and good fellowship and leads the way to a brighter view of life and humanity.

Such a play is "The Rosary," written by Edward E. Rose, expressly for Messrs. Rowland and Clifford, and produced by them.

The theme of the play concerns a man and a woman happily married and surrounded with every luxury that money and culture can secure. But the husband is an unbeliever, an atheist, without faith of any kind.

There is a jarring note in the household harmony, a personality at war with peace and love of its members.

No one notices this until a friend of the husband comes, Father Kelly, a priest of the modern world with a deep insight into human nature and a divine love for his fellow men. And when stress and trouble come, when the home is wrecked and husband and wife are brought down to the depths of suffering agony, it is the priest's calm, courage and faith that saves them, drives away the clouds of suspicion, doubt, mistrust, and brings them both into the sunlight of hope and love.

The play will be seen at the City Hall Opera House next Tuesday night with Mr. Rufus Perry in the role of Father Brian Kelly, the priest.

How Advertising Reduces Your Cost of Living

Advertising is the means by which merchants or manufacturers may tell a great number of people about the superior quality of their goods, the desirability of their merchandise and the reason it will be to your advantage to patronize them.

Advertising enables merchants to bring hundreds and thousands of customers to their stores. It enables them to do a large volume of business at minimum expense.

Advertising establishes the confidence of the community, makes new friends, keeps old customers interested and brings the news of the store right in to the customer's home.

The merchant who advertises continuously appeals to all the people in town, while the merchant who does not advertise sits within his door and waits for the people to find him out or accidentally drop in as they are passing by.

Advertising is such a powerful selling force and business build er that merchants who use it are enabled to sell better goods at the lowest prices. Read the advertisements in THE NEWS closely and constantly every day for proof.

CENTER-LANHAM HAPPENINGS.

Mrs. Scott Lanham and daughter, Mrs. Davis has returned, after several weeks visit with relatives in Arkansas.

J. E. Sloan and W. N. Walpole were in Ada Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins of Tennessee are visiting her parent, Uncle Bob Garret. Since Mrs. Jenkins' visit she has been quite sick.

Mr. E. I. Denham has sold his home to Grandpa Wheeler, and will move back to Alabama about Xmas. We regret losing this good family.

E. E. Edmansten of Oklahoma City, was with the Center folks again Sunday. Mr. Edmansten is trying to locate a singing normal in our midst and from the interest it is very probable. It is hoped that Center and neighboring communities will investigate this proposition at once, and make arrangements to begin this work in December. Most every one enjoy knowing how to sing, and we have a rare bargain before us, and should not let this pass.

Mrs. Laura Blackourn returned Saturday where she has had a week's stay at Ada.

Mr. Walter Corbin and family left Sunday to visit relatives at Stratford. Bill and Bud Fincher visited their sister Mrs. D. C. Berry last Thursday.

Mr. Mann sold his home property last week to Uncle Bob Garret. It is hoped Mr. Mann is not ready to go to Texas yet for another year. Perhaps our future crops will be better.

We had a nice rain Saturday on the turnip crop. Think salad will be plentiful soon. However it checked the cotton pickers, but one or two sunshiny days and work can be resumed.

Messrs. W. T. Peck, Gus Gaar, Fred Sloan, Misses Garnet Griffith, Susie Parks and Mable Adams of Egypt came home from school Saturday, returning Monday.

At the recent international convention of the Photo-Engravers' Union provision was made for an old age pension fund and for the payment of $1,000 death benefit to the families of departed members. Both will probably become effective in a year or two.

HOW TWO OCEANS WILL BE UNITED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6—Arrangements are practically completed for the blowing up next week of Gamboa dike, which will mean the flooding of Culebra Cut and the practical completion of the water connection between the Atlantic and the Pacific ocean. Gamboa Dike is a great artificial embankment at the northern end of the famous Culebra Cut. It was erected to prevent the waters of the Chagres River and of Gatun Lake, created artificially by impounding the waters of the Chagres River from flowing into the Culebra Cut while the excavating work was going on there. This dike is nearly 1000 feet long, 43.2 feet high, 133 feet wide at the base and 65 feet wide at the top.

Gatun Lake, the waters of which will be released by the dynamiting of the Gamboa Dike, came into existence on April 25, 1910, when the western diversion dam at Gatun was closed and the flow from the Chagres and Trinidad rivers was forced through the artificially constructed spillway channel. Since then the waters in the lake have risen gradually, and last fall the rising of the lake caused the waters of the Chagres river to back up against the great dike at Gamboa, which protected Culebra Cut. The flow and the rising continued and for several months the water backed up against the Gamboa Dike has been higher than the bottom of the finished portion of Culebra Cut.

Since the morning of June 27 last the gate of the sluices through the ogee of the Gatun spillway has been closed. At that time the surface of the water in Gatun Lake was 43.2 feet above sea level, having been maintained at that level since January 1, 1913, when the sluice gates were opened. The spillway has been completed and the sluice gates will not be opened again before the final completion of the canal. This means that the lake is on its final rise to the operating level. Under conditions of normal runoff of the Chagres and other streams which are pouring their flow into Gatun Lake, where the water is held confined, it is believed that Gatun Lake will reach its final level of 85 feet above the level of the sea about December 1 of this year. If the calculations of the engineers have been correct, the diversion of the waters of the Gatun Lake into Culebra Cut next week should give a twenty-one foot channel through the cut. The town of Goroba would be covered with water and wiped off the map.

The top of the dike at Gamboa is 70.2 feet above sea level, but, even if the dike should not be blown up, the water in the lake would not reach that height for some time. The waters now impounded in Gatun Lake represent the draining of a basin comprising 1,320 square miles. When the surface of the water in the lake rises to 85 feet, the level at which it will be maintained for the operation of the canal, the lake will have an area of 164 square miles. It will be the largest artificially created lake in the world. There will be 133,000,000,000 cubic feet of water in the lake. When the level of the lake is 85 feet above sea level there will be a depth of 45 feet in Culebra Cut.

After Gamboa Dike has been dynamited and the water from Gatun Lake has flooded Culebra Cut, great dredges will be put to work to dredge the channel and to remove the enormous mass of material that will naturally be swept into the Cut by the rushing waters of the lake and any masses of rock and soil that may slide into the cut, having been shaken loose by the shock of the explosion.

Although the flooding of the Culebra Cut will be an event of great importance, highly significant in its bearing upon the final achievement of the canal, as it will mean the supplying of the last link connecting the Atlantic with the Pacific ocean, the blowing up of Gamboa Dike will not be made an occasion of any extensive official celebration. There will be no elaborate exercises and the program for the occasion is extremely simple and matter-of-fact.

Col. Goethals, the guiding genius of the canal, clad in the white soldiers uniform which has made him a conspicuous figure during the work on the canal, will occupy a position just beyond the mud of the Gatun dam. With him will be a little staff of officers and a small number of civilians all men who are actively engaged in the work on the great waterway. When the explosion comes, after everything is in readiness and the signal given, there will be a tremendous upheaval, followed by a mighty rush of waters from Gatun Lake, carrying enormous masses of rocks, soil, trees and other tropical vegetation into Culebra Cut. That will be all and on the following day the work of removing this mass and clearing the channel of the cut will be taken up by a number of dredges which have been held in readiness for some time.

Optimist and Pessimist.
One of the recent definitions of the pessimist and the optimist is, the pessimist is the man who sits in the last seat of the rear car of the train and sees everything apparently going from him, and the optimist sits on the front of the engine—on the cowcatcher—and sees everything coming his way.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. C. S. BRYDIA.

People of Fairbury were pained to learn of the death of Mrs. Charles S. Brydia of Okmulgee, Okla., which occurred on Monday forenoon, in the hospital at Muskogee, following an operation for cancer on the breast. She never recovered from the effects of the operation. Two of her children, Fred and Carrie, were with her when she passed away. Mrs. Brydia was afflicted with this ailment during her residence in Fairbury, several operations were performed. It gave her temporary relief, but the virus had penetrated her system. About a year ago it made its appearance, larger than before, and she suffered untold tortures. As a last resort, another operation was decided upon, but her constitution was too frail to withstand the ordeal.

Her maiden name was Harriet Ellen Funk, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Funk, who came to Livingston county from McLean county, in 1840. She was born at Wolf Grove, Esmen township, June 15, 1850, and until her removal to Oklahoma, had always lived in this county, with the exception of four years spent with her parents near Breckenridge, Mo., just prior to the civil war. The great uncle of Mrs. Brydia was Isaac Funk, known as the land king of McLean county. She was educated in the schools of this county and was engaged in the vocation of school-teaching when she was married to Mr. Brydia in Pontiac December 7, 1872. She was a typical home woman, and as a wife and mother she made her home the center of a charming circle to whom she dispensed a gracious hospitality. She was the mother of twelve children, five of them having preceded her in death. The surviving children are: Truman W. and Fred F. of Ada, Okla.; Gustie, of Dolton, Ill.; Charles S., of Pontiac; George S., of Prophetstown; Grace, of Hugo, Okla.; Carrie, of Okmulgee, Okla.

The deceased is survived by five sisters; Mrs. B. Schaub and Mrs. H. S. Marsh, of Saunemin; Mrs. A. B. Cooper, of Grundy county, Ill.; Mrs. R. H. Beck, of Trenton, Mo.; and Mrs. Melissa Main, of Gibson City. Two brothers, James Funk, of California, and William R. Funk, of Paxton, also survive her.

The remains were shipped to Saunemin, arriving on Tuesday afternoon and were taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. Schwab. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Christian church. A few remarks bearing on her past life were made by Elder W. P. Carriethers of Saunemin, after which the sermon was preached by Rev. B. W. Tate of Pontiac. The remains were consigned to mother earth in the family lot in Five Mile cemetery, four miles southwest of Saunemin, the last rites being conducted by the Eastern Star lodge of Fairbury, of which she was a member. The floral offerings were beautiful.—Fairbury, (Ill.) Local Record.

OKLAHOMA'S INTERNATIONAL SOIL PRODUCTS EXPOSITION

EVERY CONTINENT OF THE GLOBE TO BE ADEQUATELY REPRESENTED AT TULSA, OKLAHOMA, WHEN THE GATES OPEN OCTOBER 22, 1913

The International Soil Products Exposition, to be held at Tulsa, Oklahoma, in October in connection with the International Dry-Farming Congress, will be a veritable world's fair for farmers.

When the gates are opened on October 22 there will be on show good crops from practically every continent on the globe, as well as from eighteen western states and four western provinces of Canada. Never before in the history of this country have so many states and nations taken part in an exclusively agricultural fair and exposition.

Chinese farmers will bring an exhibit nearly 15,000 miles to Tulsa to compete with the farmers of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas on the same crops as are grown in the states named. The exhibit from China will consist largely of cotton, corn, kafir corn, milo maize, millet, kaoliang, wheat, rye and barley.

Wheat from a number of foreign countries will compete with the wheat of the United States and Canada for world supremacy and for the $12500 threshing machine given by the Rumely company for the best bushel shown. Cotton from California will fight for prizes with the cotton of Oklahoma and Texas. Corn from Mexico, where the stalks grow 16 feet high and two crops are raised in a season, will be shown in competition with other corn from the best farms in the south and southwest. Oats from Russia, Australia, Saskatchewan, Oregon, and Utah will contest for world's prizes with the oats of Kansas and Oklahoma. Every conceivable farm product grown in western America will be exhibited.

The United States government is spending $20,000 on an enormous exhibit of the work which is being done by the department of agriculture. The people of Saskatchewan, Canada, are spending as much, and the province itself has asked the exposition management to furnish a building 60 by 240 feet in size for the Saskatchewan exhibit alone. The Canadian show will be the speed and most elaborate ever given on the south side of the international line. Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Idaho and California are expected to have official state exhibits.

The Exposition buildings and grounds will occupy 120 acres, seventy acres of which will be given over to a complete farm machine show and tillage and power demonstration. Every farm implement used in the west and southwest will not only be shown, but will be operated by skilled men. Up-to-date methods and machines for cultivating, planting and harvesting will be shown daily in actual operation just as on the farm and in the hands of the farmer himself.

PILLAR OF FIRE 600 FEET HIGH
MOSES' AND AARON'S NIGHTLY GUIDE POST TO BE IMITATED AT TULSA DRY - FARMING CONGRESS

"And there went before them by night a pillar of fire to give them light."—Ex. XIII, 21.

For the first time in history, since that marvelous light brought the people of Israel out of bondage, another pillar of fire will be used to call the people of the world from labor to refreshment at Tulsa.

The largest gas well in the world is located within a few miles of Tulsa. It is being piped into the middle of the exposition grounds used by the International Dry-Farming Congress. It flows thirty million cubic feet of natural gas daily and when it is turned loose and lighted on the night of October 22 the visitors and delegates to the Congress will witness a sight that for awe-inspiring magnificence has never been equalled.

Six hundred feet straight into the air the gas is shot by nature's force below. Its noise is like that of an avalanche; its power that of the cyclone. It will be controlled and ignited by electricity from a distance of two hundred yards or more on account of the heat it creates.

No flame can be seen until the gas reaches the height of a ten-story building. Above that a solid pillar of fire five hundred feet in height and a hundred feet thick, will illumine the exposition grounds and the city of Tulsa as no city was ever lighted in the history of the world. Shadows will be cast of people and things five miles away. The flame itself may be seen for a hundred miles.

Gas is cheap in Oklahoma. The average gas light in the average home uses but few cubic feet of gas in an hour. The great gas light at Tulsa will burn fifteen million feet a night. Nothing like it has ever been seen since Moses led his people out of Egypt and into the promised land.

The Tulsa light will serve a similar purpose, for it will give to the world a message of agricultural hope and will point the way to farm prosperity in all states and nations through the teachings of the International Dry-Farming Congress, for whose meeting it is burned.
